Winkelmann moved approval of the Administrative Salary Compression proposal as presented. Seconded by Acomb. Gard stated that she did some research and has concerns with moving forward with this proposal based on an article in the Beloit Daily News. McNeal explained that it is a salary compression and not an across the board pay raise. Some administrators will receive and increase however approximately 14 administrators will not receive any compensation. The overall administrative package increase is .0018 percent. He also stated that with a couple administrators leaving the district there will be an overall savings. He also stated that this is an equity issue as well. Johnson agreed that the gender inequity needs to be corrected. She stated she does not feel that all principals should be paid equally. Acomb stated that he would rather pay for performance than longevity. He feels that the persons in these positions are performing in an exemplary way. He also pointed out that this proposal will save almost $300,000 in salaries due to position eliminations. He also pointed out that in the recent past, the board did not approve across the board pay raises. McNeal reiterated that the increase in the total package is less than one percent. He also stated that the administrators that will be receiving an increase have received major honors for their work in the schools state-wide and therefore are deserving of an increase. Gard stated that she did agree in theory and appreciated the .0018 percent. She also reiterated her previous objections. Johnson clarified a decrease in a position salary. McNeal explained that Chris Wesling is retiring at the end of the year and her position will become a director position with reassigned duties. Winkelmann restated the amount of savings versus the minimal increase and feels that persons are deserving of increases based on performance. Scharmer indicated that this is a major conversation for her. She has not voted in favor of increases this year. She stated that there is a difference in the number of staff being supervised between the K-3 and 4/5 buildings. She also feels administrators should be rewarded for their performance. She sees this proposal as asking more of staff while cutting administrative positions. She stated that this is a difficult decision, but feels that the $5,000 total increase outweighs the $300,000 savings from position cuts. Henderson stated she understands the financial concerns. She restated that there really is a zero percent increase. She also agrees that there needs to be fairness to those who have been in the district for years and are paid less than new employees. She too stated that it is a hard decision. Motion carried 4-2 with Gard and Johnson voting in the negative.

Winkelmann moved approval of the revised personnel recommendations, Exhibit A. Seconded by Henderson. Motion carried 4-2 with Gard and Johnson voting in the negative.
